Help us help our local community this holiday period

The Trussell Trust foodbank network works in partnership with local churches and organisations to bring foodbanks to communities across the UK and their North East foodbank is located at South Leith parish church halls on Henderson Street, Leith.

The Trussell Trust helped almost 500,000 people within UK in 2014 therefore North East Foodbank and ourselves have been working together for the last year trying to eliminate hunger and poverty especially here in Leith. To assist our partner at this time of year we are accepting donations of perishable foods that can be distributed in the Leith and North East areas of Edinburgh.

How can you help?

Below are some suggested items which we know will make a great difference this holiday period and beyond:

pasta and pasta sauces;

snacks or biscuits;

tea bags, coffee

toiletries and nappies.
